

515 Park Avenue
Single Family Residence

About the project: This family's full floor pied-a-terre, is located on New York's Park Avenue. The site itself was the inspiration for this refined architectural jewel that responds directly to it's surroundings. No stone was un-turned when it came to the realization of this project, yet the challenge was to re-interpret traditional architecture vernacular. We broke down the typical language and based the details on modern aesthetics and proportions.
